*He stood up to read and was handed a scroll of the prophet Isaiah.
He unrolled the scroll and found the passage where it was written:*

The Spirit of the Lord is upon me, because he has anointed me to bring glad tidings to the poor.

He has sent me to proclaim liberty to captives and recovery of sight to the blind, to let the oppressed go free, and to proclaim a year acceptable to the Lord.

Rolling up the scroll, he handed it back to the attendant and sat down, and the eyes of all in the synagogue looked intently at him.

*He said to them,
“Today this Scripture passage is fulfilled in your hearing.”*

A Promise to Protect

The Diocese of Trenton is committed to the initiatives outlined in the U.S. Bishop's Charter for the Protection of Children and Young People in regard to the reporting and investigation of sexual abuse allegations involving minors. If you have been sexually abused as a minor by a member of the clergy or anyone representing the Catholic Church, or if you know of someone who was, you can report that abuse through the Diocesan Abuse Hotline: 888-296-2965 or via email at abuseline@diocesoftrenton.org.

A Note From Our Pastor

Very Rev. Michael Wallack

My Dear Parishioners,

When we gather together to take part in the Holy Mass we stand, in an attitude of watchfulness, to hear the Good News that the Gospel always brings us. We have to listen to it with a disposition which is at once attentive, humble and grateful because we know that God is speaking to each one of us in particular. We should hear the Gospel writes St Augustine, as if Our Lord were present and speaking to us. We must not say 'happy were those who could see Him', for many of those who saw Him crucified Him; and many of those who have not seen Him have believed in Him. The very words that came from Our Lord's lips were written down and kept and preserved for us. We can only love someone we know.

In order to get to know Christ, many Christians dedicate some minutes each day to reading and meditating on the Gospels. This practice leads us by the hand, as it were, to the knowledge and contemplation of Jesus Christ. It teaches us to see Him as the Apostles saw Him, to observe His reactions, to watch the way He behaved and listen to His words which were always filled with wisdom and authority. The Gospels show Him to us on some occasions moved with compassion at the plight of people in misery. At other times, they show Him full of understanding for sinners, or firm with the Pharisees who are presenting a false image of their religion. He is full of patience with those disciples who so often do not grasp the meaning of His words. It would be very difficult to love Jesus Christ, to get to know Him really well, if we did not frequently hear the Word of God, if we did not attentively read part of the Gospel each day.

That reading, perhaps lasting only a few minutes, nourishes and increases our piety. At the end of each Reading of Sacred Scripture the priest says, 'This is the Gospel of the Lord', and the faithful reply, 'Praise to you, Lord Jesus Christ'. How is it we praise Him? Our Lord is not satisfied with our bare words; Show me, he says. He wants to be praised with deeds. We cannot run the risk of forgetting God's law, of allowing the teaching of the Church to remain in us as little more than truths which are diffuse and inoperative, or of which we have a merely superficial knowledge.

To us, this would mean an exile far more devastating than that of Babylon. God's greatest enemy in the world is ignorance, the cause, and, as it were, the root of all the evils that poison entire nations and perturb many souls. We know well that the one great evil that afflicts so many Christians is the lack of doctrinal formation. What is graver still is that many people are turned astray by error, a sickness even more serious than ignorance. What a pity if we, because we lack the necessary doctrine, cannot show Christ to them and give them the light they need in order to understand His teaching. Let us take the advice of Pope Francis and make good use of reflecting on Sacred Scriptures.

Peace,
Fr. Mike

Today's Marian Anthem After the Last Gospel

We will sing the Alma Redemptoris Mater as today's Marian Anthem at the Last Gospel. This seasonal Marian anthem is traditionally sung from the first Sunday of Advent until the Feast of the Purification on February 2 (the original ending date of the Christmas season). This prayer tells of Gabriel's announcement and of Mary's Divine motherhood.

THE THIRD SUNDAY AFTER THE EPIPHANY

V. Praised be Jesus Christ... R. Now and forever!

*Adoráte Deum omnes Ángeli ejus:
audivit, et lætáta est Sion:
et exsultavérunt filie Judæ.*

Adore God, all ye his Angels: Sion heard, and was glad:
and the daughters of Juda rejoiced. [Ps. 96:7,8]

Dear brothers and sisters in Christ, the Gospel of today brings us to Our Lord being well on His mission. Already multitudes are following, so His fame must have been spreading for a while. In Jewish society of the day, a leper had no business being in public. They were declared unclean, and, in Jewish thought, this surely was recompense for some sin. The poor man is an outcast, and sin casts us out of friendship with Christ. And yet – the leper is undaunted by his state – he KNOWS that Jesus can cure him, if He wills. Jesus rewards the man’s faith; do we KNOW that He can do this for us, as well?

The Carmelite realizes that all of humanity has ‘leprosy’ of some kind – this presents itself as attachment to sin. The Gospel admonition of, “Be perfect, therefore, as your heavenly Father is perfect. [Mt 5:48]” is taken very seriously and literally. We promise to live a life in conformance to the evangelical counsels of chastity [according to our state in life], poverty, and obedience. Also, we live according to the Beatitudes. The Secular Order member works a job and supports a family – it is not the same brand of poverty as is it is for the Nuns – they have a cross, a bed, a desk, and a chair in their cells – and that is about it. The one life that God has granted each of these Nuns is spent in joyful prayer and penance – a truly remarkable and beautiful vocation! The poverty for all of Carmel consists primarily in poverty of spirit – a poverty that consists of vocation to continual prayer, and of detachment from the world, while on a mission to do good. Those in the world have their spiritual “cells” where one goes to pray in detachment, working as anonymously as possible for any good that can be achieved. Again, literally, “But whenever you pray, go into your room and shut the door and pray to your Father who is in secret; and your Father who sees in secret will reward you. [Mt 6:6].” As we progress in Carmel, it becomes more joyful to follow “a man of suffering and acquainted with infirmity [Is 53:3a].”

Returning to our themes of today – the leper is what we all should be like – abiding in abject humility, but with unshakable confidence [“con” = “with” & “fides” = “faith”] in the good God who can do any and all things, according to His holy and adorable will. Prayer is our “invincible arms” with which we beg Our Father, in the name of Jesus Christ, to grant desires of our hearts and for all needful things in this often difficult world – that these be for our good and may redound to His glory – and to Jesus Christ be all glory!

*“Miserable though I am, I firmly believe that You can do what You will;
and greater are Your marvels that I hear spoken of,
and the more I reflect that You can work others still greater, the stronger grows my faith and the greater is the resolution with which I believe that You will hear my requests.”*
